“And if anyone saved a life, it would be as if he saved the life of all mankind. Quran”

Ramadan is a time of self-reflection, piety and blessings. The virtues of this month are many, allowing all Muslims to join together for a month-long period of pure devotion and worship. Charity is a key during this month, as the Prophet (PBUH) said:

“The best charity is that given in Ramadan.”

It is also a time to reflect and remember those who are less fortunate than us. For the poor and needy the blessed month of Ramadan can be a great struggle. Widows with orphaned children and many poor people have little or no provision to break their fasts with. With food shortages women and children are suffering from malnutrition and in urgent need of help.

World food crisis plus drought leaving million of people hungry

A wave of food-price inflation is moving around the globe plus drought across many African countries, leaving in its wake drastically increased levels of hunger and poverty.

Hunger is the most extreme form of poverty

Food is a basic necessity of life. Those who are fortunate eat three square meals a day; however, over 840 million people around the world don't even eat one square meal a day. Giving to the needy during this month ends great blessings on the donor, allowing Muslims everywhere to enjoy the month of Ramadan without worrying about finding food or water. Your kindness and generosity can provide them with basic necessities throughout this challenging month.

Feed the fasting Program

Our Ramadan Food Program targets the most vulnerable families who live in the remotest areas, with little access to food or water. We also distribute food packages to orphanages & orphan children and their families.

Last year QA volunteers distributed food aid packages through Feed the Fasting program which helped thousands of poor orphans, their families, the elderly and weak. From Africa to Asia, Pakistan, Afghanistan, Palestine, Yemen and many other places.

All this became possible with your generous donations, help and support.

Today we are making an urgent humanitarian appeal to you again to help us to deliver this food aid. This Ramadan QA is making special arrangements to feed the underprivileged families. Our aim is to help as many thousands of poor families as possible around the world. The rewards of your good deeds are multiplied during Ramadan, so are the hopes of millions of poor people; hopes for peace, security and the preservation of livelihood.

“ Donate £40.00 and feed a family of five for the whole month of Ramadan ”
 That's only £1.33 a day - a tiny amount, but for millions, it is the difference between a day ending with more hunger or a day ending with a full stomach.

The Holy Qur'an includes exhortations to Muslims to be charitable. Beside it being a principal religious duty, giving Zakah & sadaqah to the needy is one of the pathways to attaining moral transcendence.

The emphasis of feeding the poor in Islam does not start or end in Ramadan alone, but throughout one's life.

“And they feed, for the love of Allah, the poor, the orphan, and the captive...”
 [Soorah al-Insan, 8]

Allah's Messenger (PBUH) said:

“He who feeds a fasting person will gain the same reward as he will, without decreasing from the fasting person's rewards.” [Ahmad].

Zakah represents the unbreakable bond between members of the community, whom Prophet Mohammad (pbuh) described to be “like the organs of the body, if one suffers then all others rally in response.”

Charity is preached by almost every religion in the world. Charity is a way of bringing justice to society, whilst justice is the essence of religion. Islam has therefore made charity (Zakah) obligatory and binding upon all those who embrace the faith; it has been made into an institution in order to give in permanence and regularity.

Qaaf Aids humanitarian work is inspired by the saying of the Prophet Muhammad (pbuh);

“The best of people are those who are most beneficial to others.”

QA emphasizes financial assistance to widows, orphan children and people in need world-wide through contribution of Zakah and other funding programs in accordance with Qur'anic guidelines.

Help to change a life and give hope to an Orphan and his / her family by donating your Zakah and Sadaqah & Lillah.
